"THE CROSSROADS OF RUST BELT BLUES"

The Cleveland Blues Society is a member of The Blues Foundation, which is dedicated to preserving our Blues music history, celebrating recording and performance excellence, supporting Blues education and ensuring the future of this uniquely American art form.

The Blues is one of America's greatest musical treasures. A roots music form that evolved out of African-American work songs, field hollers, spirituals, and country string ballads more than a century ago, the Blues is the foundation of virtually every major American music form born in the 20th century, including jazz, rhythm and blues, rock and roll, and hip hop.

The general public has, over the years, come to recognize the Blues as a very important part of our national cultural heritage. Although now revered all over the world, Blues was born of the Emancipation in the American South and raised in the big cities, where the Black populace migrated after the turn of the century in their desperate attempt to escape the insufferable poverty and repression they had endured since collapse of the Reconstruction in the late 1800's.

The Cleveland Blues Society invites young and old Blues lovers to get started on a lifetime of participation in the activities of their local Blues society.

Mission Statement

The Cleveland Blues Society is a non-profit organization whose mission is to promote awareness and appreciation of the Blues. Through our alliance, we endeavor to provide more opportunities for fans to see quality local and national Blues artists. Additionally, we will provide educational workshops and preserve the history of the Blues in our area.
